Circumstances: Munoz was last seen in Biloxi, Mississippi on June 11, 1994. She left her parents' home with her three-month-old son between 10:00 and 11:00 a.m., driving her 1988 Plymouth Reliant with vanity license plates reading PANTERA. Munoz planned to pick up her son's father and then go shopping with them both at the Edgewater Mall. Her parents became worried when she had not returned by nightfall, and called her boyfriend. Munoz's child was at her boyfriend's residence, but Munoz was nowhere to be found. She has never been heard from again.

Authorities initially considered Munoz to be a possible runaway, but her parents never believed she left of her own accord. At the time of her disappearance, she was completing her senior year at Biloxi High School and was saving $600 so her parents could adopt her son. The adoption was so the baby could get Munoz's parents' health insurance. Munoz's parents claim she got into a fight with her boyfriend on the day of her disappearance. The argument supposedly turned physical and Munoz's brother had to intervene. It is unclear whether the incident has anything to do with her later disappearance.

Munoz's car was found abandoned in the parking lot of Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport the day after her disappearance. Her parents asked the airport's security to view the surveillance tapes, and Munoz was not captured on any of the cameras. Her disappearance was later reclassified as an endangered missing person.

Vehicle last seen in if any: 1988 Plymouth Reliant, Found abandoned at Airport in Gulfport
