

Believe Baby Found In Woods Was Killed

MACON (AP) — Sheriff Emmett W. Farrar said Tuesday Noxubee county officers believe a newborn white child, whose body was found in the woods near here, was slain with a stick just after it was born.

Farrar said the body was recovered on pine straw in the Noxubee river swamp about three miles west of here after hunters spotted it.

He said the child apparently was born in the woods last Thursday or Friday and killed. Animals had molested the body and officers were unable to determine the infant's sex.
