

WEST POINT, Miss. (WTVA) - A West Point man has been missing since Nov. 21, 2018, and his family is begging anyone with information to speak up.

Kim Brown said her 30-year-old son Rahman Hernandez was last seen in their neighborhood in West Point.

Hernandez is described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

He was last seen wearing a gray hoodie and blue jeans.

His mother said it is very unlikely for him to disappear and not call.

"He might leave for one or two days, but he would come back home," she said.

According to West Point Police Chief Avery Cook, at this time there are no new details on his whereabouts.

The Brown family say they want closure.

"We are sick and tired of the same thing every day, over and over every day, and we still haven't heard from him. When the dust clears, everything is going to come to light. Just let us know where he's at if he's alive or dead. Just let us know."

According to the family, there is a $1,200 reward for anyone with information leading to the location of Hernandez.

If you have any information on his whereabouts, call the West Point Police Department at 662-494-1244

Westpoint missing man

The holiday season without their loved one.

Rahman hernandez has been rahman hernandez has been reported missing for a month and there have been no new details about his disappearance wtva's xavier harris speaks with the family in this exclusive interview emily, sitting down with kim brown who is the mother of rahman hernandez and seeing the pain in her eyes as tears rolled down her face showed me that she is willing to do whatever it takes to get her son back home... body is."

"i just think somebody did something to him because nobody goes missing."

Were the only words kim brown could says after not seeing her son for three holidays.

And had been reported missing since november 21st.

She says when he first left, she thought nothing of it... "he might leave for one or two days but he's going to come back."

But unfortunately, that was the last day she saw her son, brown says after going to police she wanted to do more to get her son home so she posted on facebook seeking public information on her sons whereabouts... "we went out searching on four- wheelers checking different locations, but we didn't find anything."

Brown says hernandez would usually hang out at a local car-wash or a nearby store.

I spoke with hernandez's stepfather and he says they have exhausted all of their resources and they just want closure... "we are sick and tired of the same thing every day, over and over every day.

But we still haven't heard from him, when the dust clears everything is going to come to light the only thing, i'm saying just let us know where he's at if he's alive or dead just let us know."

According to the family there is a $1200 reward for anyone who comes forward with information that can lead to locating hernandez, coming up next on wtva nine news at 6 i spoke with folks in the west point community who says they've also know hernandez and wants him home safely
